

Telford & Wrekin Music
After School Music Clubs

Young People's Feedback

January 2012

Introduction

Telford & Wrekin Music runs a range of after school music clubs for primary and secondary aged young people such as our orchestras, choirs and Rock Schools.

A list of our after school music clubs is online here:-

<http://telfordculturezone.com/telford-and-wrekin-music/after-school-music-clubs>

These young people feedback tools have been designed to demonstrate the outcomes of our work with children and young people. They indicate whether changes have occurred in musical ability, personal development and social development and are based on the Youth Music Outcomes Framework.

These tools provide a quantitative method of capturing outcomes, but you should be using many methods – e.g. talking to the children and young people on your projects and recording what they have to say, keeping a reflective diary of how the activities you engage in affect the organisation and it's work, and keeping track of changes and developments using film, photos and other creative methods.

The numbers collected using these tools can tell us if outcomes have been achieved as a result of a project, but many other evaluation methods are better at telling us how this has happened and will help tell the story of a project and what we can all learn from it.
